Stop and smell the roses.'

I remember hearing my grandma and aunts use that sentiment from time to time when I was growing up but don't seem to hear it as much now-a-days. We are always in the hustle and bustle of planning and carrying out plans that we sometimes forget to take a moment to "stop and smell the roses".

With that said, I wanted to take a minute this month to think about upcoming celebrations we will have at Engel Haus specifically but also widespread celebrations coming up. Each year we look at Memorial Day as the official kick off to summer, BBQ's, lake days and gather of friends of family. We celebrate our mothers and fathers in May and June, graduations from High School and College in late May and rush through summer just to celebrate the end of the summer with Labor Day.

Amongst all of our typical national holidays we also focus on taking care of each other at Engel Haus with different celebrations for residents but also employees. We are looking forward to celebrating Nursing Assistant Week in June, Culinary staff in July, and will start preparing our annual family picnic this summer to celebrate all of you. We will continue to plan get-togethers right here to share joy with one another and celebrate as a community but also to celebrate one another's personal triumphs.

I hope you take time to sit and reflect on each celebration- large or small- with your neighbors at Engel Haus, share stories of past holidays and what you have planned in the upcoming weeks and months. We all have different traditions and ways to embrace the changes of life and sharing those memories brings us together.

Let each flower be a reminder to slow down, appreciate the moment and just maybe- stop and smell the roses.
